

L O R D H A V E M E R C Y U P O N U S.

A true Relation of seven most Plagues or Visitations in LONDON, with the number of those that were Buried of all Diseases Vis. The first in the Year of Queen Elizabeth, Anno 1592.

The second, in the Year 1603. The third, in (that never to be forgotten Year) 1625. The fourth, in Anno 1630.
The fifth, in the Year 1636. The sixth in the Year 1637. and 1638. The seventh in this present Year, 1665.

Certain approved Medicines for the Plague, both to prevent that contagion, and to expell it after it be taken; as have been Approved in Anno 1625. as also in this present Visitation, 1665.

A cheap Medicine to keep from Infection.

Take a pint of new Milk, and cut two cloves of Garlick very small, put it in the Milk, and drink it mornings fasting, and it preserveth from infection.

A Posset Drink to remove the Plague from the Heart.

AN Ale Posset-Drink with Pimpernel seethed in it, till it tastes strong of it, drunk often, removes the Infection, though it hath got to the very Heart.

An approved Remedy against the Plague.

Take a sprig of Rue, alias, herb of-grace, and shred it, and put it in a Figg or two, and eat it every morning fasting, it keeps the Body from Infection, and purifieth the blood.

An exact and true relation of the number of those that were buried in London and the Liberties of all Diseases, from the 17 of March 1591. to the 22 of December, 1592.

Reader, what ever thou art, rich or poor, Rowle up thy self, for Death stands at the If God sayes strike, he must, & will come in, (door; For death we know is the reward of sin. His very breath is so infectious grown, He poysons every one he breathes upon; He is the Rich-mans terrour, makes him flye, And bear away his baggs, as loath to die. What shall the Poor do that behind do stay? Death makes them rich, by taking them away. But what shall Poor men do, that here do live, 'Tis surely fit the Rich should comfort give, And weekly Means unto them still afford: Oh such Rich men shall be rich in the Lord! Death carries all, and all is gone, Which sinful man long time hath lived in, Doth make them fearfull of that punishment. Due unto sin, for time that is spent. Oh why was this not thought on long ago! When God expected our Repentance to? Seventeen years since, a little Plague God sent, He shoke his Rod to move us to repent: Not long before that time, a dearth of Corn Was sent to us to see if we would turn: And after that, there's none deny it can; The Beasts did suffer for the sin of man: Grasse was so short and small, that it was sold, Hay for four pound a Load was daily fold. These Judgements God hath sent even to cite us Unto Repentance, and from sin to fright us. Oh stubborn England! childish and unwise, So heavy laden with iniquities.

Return, return, unto thy loving Father, Return I say with speed, so much the rather, Because his Son thy Saviour pleads thy cause, Though thou hast broken all his holy Lawes: Say to thy self, My sins are cause of all Gods Judgements that upon this Land do fall, And sin's the cause that each one doth complain, They have too much, sometimes to little rain: Say to thy self, this Plague may be removed, If I repent, as plainly may be proved By Niniveh, that City great and large, For God hath given unto his Angels Charge; To strike and to forbear as he sees fit; If it be so, then learn thou so much wit, To use thy best endeavour to prevent A Plague, which thou mayst do if thou repent. Let all infected Houses be thy Text, And make this Use, that thine may be the next. The Red Crosse still is us'd, as it hath bin, To shew they Christians are, that are within: And Lord have mercy on us, on the Door, Puts thee in mind, to pray for them therefore. The Watchman that attends the House of sorrow, He may attend upon thy House to morrow. Oh where's the vowes we to our God have made! When death and sickness came with Axe & Spade, And hurld our Brethren up in heaps apace, Even forty thousand in a little space: The Plague among us is not yet removed, Because that sin of us is still beloved, Each spectacle of Death and Funerall, Puts thee and I in mind, We must die all.
